ENEOS Joins Call to Action

ENEOS Holdings, Inc. (President: Katsuyuki Ota) announces that it has joined the Call to Action put forth by the global coalition Business for Nature.

The Call to Action calls on governments around the world to adopt ambitious policies to reverse nature loss in the decade up to 2030, under the concept that “healthy societies, resilient economies, and thriving businesses rely on nature.” Over 600 enterprises around the world have declared their support to date.

This year is the deadline for achieving the Aichi Biodiversity Targets agreed upon in 2010 at the tenth meeting of the Conference of the Parties to the Convention on Biological Diversity (COP 10) held in Nagoya, Japan. Targets for the next decade will be adopted at COP 15, scheduled for 2021. It is highly significant that at such a time, many businesses have joined the Call to Action to seek the conservation and restoration of nature, and there are hopes for a more ambitious post-2020 biodiversity framework.

In the ENEOS Group Code of Conduct, the ENEOS Group recognizes its role as a steward of the global environment and its limited resources, and states its commitment to conserve biodiversity and natural capital such as water, soil, and the atmosphere, and contribute to the development of a sustainable society. We have joined the Call to Action because it reflects these principles.

To address the issue of climate change and its huge impact on our natural environment, the ENEOS Group will contribute to environmental protection by working toward carbon neutrality in its own CO₂ emissions in fiscal 2040. We will achieve this by strengthening and expanding businesses that impose a low environmental burden and strengthening environmentally conscious businesses.
