TonenGeneral Sekiyu Wakayama Refinery Participates in Beach Cleanup Initiative

Employees of the Wakayama refinery (Arida, Wakayama; manager: Tomoki Kakuta) of TonenGeneral Sekiyu (head office: Minato-ku, Tokyo; president: Jun Mutoh) and their families participated in the Jinoshima Volunteer Beach Cleanup initiative held on June 1.

Jinoshima, an uninhabited island located about one kilometer from the coast where the refinery is located, is a popular local tourist destination in the summer due to its clear water and beautiful beach. The Wakayama refinery, in cooperation with the Arida City Hall and the Arida City Sightseeing Association, has participated in the Jinoshima Volunteer Beach Cleanup initiative, held annually prior to the start of the swimming season, for almost 40 years. This year, 185 participants from the refinery, including employees and their families, collected driftwood and rubbish that had washed up on the beach.

The TonenGeneral Group believes that as a good corporate citizen, contributing to society while continuously working to maintain safety and health, protect the environment and respond to climate change issues is an important corporate responsibility. Participation in the Jinoshima Volunteer Beach Cleanup initiative is one of the Group's many social contribution activities.
